Policy regarding the readjustment of database projects not included in the National Readjustment

NGS has not made any commitment as to whether resources will be available to readjust projects submitted after the 2005 cutoff date.

It is suggested that the submitting agency readjust the project and submit the results to NGS for database entry. Only the output of ADJUST, the bfile with the final coordinates and ellipsoid heights and a very short report addendum detailing any problems or comments need be submitted.

NGS has not determined at this time the mechanism for computing the local and network accuracies for individual projects so there is no requirement for their submission.
